BALI DESCRIPTION

Situated between Java and Lombok, the island of Bali is located 8 to 9 degrees south of the equator with the Java Sea to the north, the Indian Ocean to the south. Bali's covers an area of 5,636 km<sup>2</sup> or 0.29% of Indonesia, measuring just 90km long the north-south axis and less than about 140km from west to east. Divided into three areas of water, the North Bali Sea is about 3,168km<sup>2</sup>, the East about 3,350km<sup>2</sup>, and the West about 2,982km<sup>2</sup>. Bali Sea covers an area of 9,500km<sup>2</sup>. The North Bali sea runs along the coastline of Buleleng, the East Bali Sea runs along the coastline of Karangasem, Klungkung and Gianyar, and the West Bali Sea include the coastline of Badung Tabanan and Jembrana.

Bali has a long chain of history from the ice-age era (pre-historic time) to modern, global civilization era. With a dynamic characteristic indicating selectivity and flexibility, the Balinese culture initially reflects a configuration of an expressive culture dominated by religious, solidarity and aesthetic values. Nowadays, it develops along with the adoption of foreign values especially in the aspects of the economic, science and technology, as a result of the global modernization. In general, the history of Bali is divided into three different eras including the pre-historic, the Hindu-Buddhist era and the modern culture.
